

So... When's the general strike?

A few years ago the people of Toronto were faced with laws that attacked their rights at work and basic freedoms. They responded with a city-wide strike that lasted for two days and halted the conservative agenda. Trade unions helped to organise and build that action. So how can we create that sort of struggle in our similar city? How do we kickstart our union bureaucracies? How do we create radical democracy and workers power?
